

World Peace Cookies

Ingredients:

- 1 ¼ cup (170 grams) all-purpose flour
- 1/3 cup (28 grams) unsweetened cocoa powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 stick plus 3 tablespoons (11 tablespoons; 155 grams) unsalted butter, cut into chunks, at room temperature
- 2/3 (134 grams) packed light brown sugar
- ¼ cup (50 grams) sugar
- ½ teaspoon fleur de sel or ¼ teaspoon fine sea salt
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 5 ounces (142 grams) best-quality bittersweet chocolate, chopped into irregular sized bits

Directions:

1. Sift the flour, cocoa and baking soda together.
2. Working with a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment, or in a large bowl with a hand mixer, beat the butter and both sugars together on medium speed until soft, creamy and homogenous, about 3 minutes. Beat in the salt and vanilla. Turn off the mixer, add all the dry ingredients and pulse a few times to start the blending. When the risk of flying flour has passed, turn the mixer to low and beat until the dough forms big, moist curds. Toss in the chocolate pieces and mix to incorporate. This is an unpredictable dough (see above). Sometimes it's crumbly and sometimes it comes together and cleans the sides of the bowl. Happily, no matter what, the cookies are always great.

3. Turn the dough out onto a work surface and gather it together, kneading it if necessary to bring it together. Divide the dough in half. Shape the dough into logs that are 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Don't worry about the length — get the diameter right, and the length will follow. (If you get a hollow in the logs, just start over.) Wrap the logs in plastic wrap and freeze them for at least 2 hours or refrigerate them for at least 3 hours.
4. When you're ready to bake: Center a rack in the oven and preheat it to 325 degrees F. Line two baking sheets with parchment paper or silicone baking mats.
5. Working with one log at a time and using a long, sharp knife, slice the dough into 1/2-inch-thick rounds. (The rounds might crack as you're cutting them — don't be concerned, just squeeze the bits back onto each cookie.) Arrange the rounds on the baking sheets, leaving about 2 inches between them. (If you've cut both logs, keep one baking sheet in the fridge while you bake the other.)
6. Bake the cookies for 12 minutes (9 minutes with convection)— don't open the oven, just let them bake. When the timer rings, they won't look done, nor will they be firm, and that's just the way they should be. Transfer the baking sheet to a cooling rack and let the cookies rest until they are only just warm, at which point you can munch them, or let them reach room temperature (I think the texture's more interesting at room temperature).
7. Bake the remaining dough.

STORING The dough can be refrigerated for up to 3 days or frozen for up to 2 months. If you've frozen the dough, you needn't defrost it before baking — just bake the cookies 1 minute long.

PLAYING AROUND Rolled-and-Cut World Peace Cookies. WPC dough has a mind of its own and it's hard to corral it into perfect rounds no matter how you handle it. If you're on a quest for a neater, rounder cookie, roll the dough to a thickness of 3/8 inch and refrigerate or freeze as you would for logs. If you have 2-inch baking rings, use a cookie cutter that's slightly smaller than 2 inches, cut out rounds and center the rounds in the baking rings. (Muffin tins won't work for these cookies.) Alternatively, you can cut out the dough and bake it on lined cookie sheets. The baking time remains the same no matter how you cut the cookies.
